Compensation of Directors

The Company pays annual fees to directors who are not employees of the Company and reimburses such directors for expenses in attending meetings. In 1999, the Company paid a annual fee of $35,000 to each director who chairs a committee and an annual fee of $30,000 to each remaining non-employee director. Under a plan established by the Board of Directors, each director can make an annual election to receive his director fees in cash or in the equivalent number of shares of Common Stock at the then current market price of Common Stock. In December 1999, the Company issued 44,255 shares of Common Stock, at its then current market price of $2.9375 per share, to the non-employee directors, in full payment of 2000 director fees aggregating $130,000. Under the Company's 1999 Long-term Incentive Plan (the "Incentive Plan"), each non-employee director receives on the date of initial election or appointment to the Board of Directors options to acquire 10,000 shares of Common Stock. In addition, each non-employee director receives at each annual meeting of stockholders, so long as such person remains a director, options to acquire 10,000 shares of Common Stock. The exercise price equals the fair market value on the date of grant.

Under Nevada law, directors will be elected by a plurality vote and the persons receiving the greatest number of votes will be elected as the Class C Directors.

Shares represented by proxies will be voted FOR the election of the Board of Directors' nominees unless otherwise indicated on the proxy. If at the time of the meeting, any of the nominees has become unavailable for any reason, the persons entitled to vote the proxy shall vote for such substitute nominee or nominees as they, in their discretion, may determine. The Company knows of no reason why any nominee would be unavailable to serve.

Employment Agreements

Effective June 23, 1999 the Company entered into employment agreements with M. Jay Allison, the President and Chief Executive Officer of the Company, and Roland O. Burns, Senior Vice President, Chief Financial Officer, Secretary and Treasurer of the Company. Under the agreements, the Company has agreed to employ each of Mr. Allison and Mr. Burns for a period of 12 months at a minimum base rate of $245,000, and $140,000 per annum, respectively. Each of the employment agreements provides for the payment of severance benefits in an amount equal to three times the sum of the existing annual base salary plus the annual bonus of the employee upon (i) a change in control followed by (ii) the occurrence of certain specified events, including the assignment of the employee to duties inconsistent with his position immediately prior to the change in control, a reduction in the employee's salary, requiring the employee to be relocated, failure of a successor to the Company to assume the obligations of the Company under the employment agreement, failure of the Company to re-elect the employee to the offices held by him immediately prior to a change in control and a breach by the Company (or any successor) of any provisions of the employment agreement. The severance benefit payments are payable as a single cash payment within 30 days of the employee's termination of employment. As defined in the employment agreements, a "change in control" is deemed to have taken place if, without the approval or recommendation of a majority of the then existing Board of Directors of the Company, (a) a third person causes or brings about the removal or resignation of a majority of the then existing members of the Board or if a third person causes or brings about an increase in the size of the Board such that the then existing members of the Board thereafter represent a minority of the total number of persons comprising the entire Board; (b) a third person, including a group, becomes the beneficial owner of shares of any class of the Company's stock having 20% or more of the total number of votes that may be cast for the election of directors of the Company; or (c) the Company's stockholders approve a merger or other business combination of the Company with or into another corporation pursuant to which the Company will not survive or will survive only as a subsidiary of another corporation, or the sale or other disposition of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company, or any combination of the foregoing.

Report of Compensation Committee on Executive Compensation

The duties of the Company's Compensation Committee include the annual review and approval of the Company's management compensation strategy, review and determination of individual elements of compensation for the Company's executive officers and oversight of the administration of the Incentive Plan. The Compensation Committee has not established any specific criteria in determining executive compensation. The goal of the Company's compensation arrangements is to attract, retain and reward personnel critical to the long-term success of the Company. To achieve this basic goal, the Compensation Committee sets annual base salaries for the Chief Executive Officer and the other executive officers and awards discretionary cash bonuses based on the Company's financial performance during the prior year, as well as the Compensation Committee's subjective assessment of an individual's own performance and ability in the position held by that person.

Base Salaries. The Company's compensation policy is for the Compensation Committee to annually review and set executive base salaries, including that of the President and Chief Executive Officer, within a competitive range given the Company's growth strategy. Once generally established, base salaries are adjusted within the competitive range on an individual basis based on past performance. In 1999, the Compensation Committee did not adjust the base salaries of Mr. Allison or any of the other named executive officers.

Discretionary Cash Bonuses. The Compensation Committee granted cash bonuses of $965,500 in the aggregate for 1999 to the Company's seven executive officers, including $470,000 to Mr. Allison, for their performance with respect to the Company's achievements in 1999. These achievements included the recapitalization of the Company in April 1999 and the successful drilling program, which in the opinion of the Committee, substantially enhanced the Company's long-term business and financial prospects. The amount of each bonus was determined based upon the Compensation Committee's subjective assessment of the contribution of each executive officer. With respect to Mr. Allison, the Compensation Committee considered primarily his role and performance in directing the Company's 1999 results.

Incentive Plan Awards. The Compensation Committee believes that a significant portion of executive compensation should be dependent on value created for the Company's stockholders. Through the Incentive Plan, stock options are granted to key members of management to align the interests of management with the interests of stockholders in working to increase the value of the Company's Common Stock. On June 23, 1999, the Compensation Committee granted options under the Incentive Plan to purchase 970,000 shares of Common Stock, at an exercise price of $3.875 per share, to the Company's executive officers and certain other key employees. Of the options granted, options to purchase 955,000 shares of Common Stock were granted to executive officers and options to purchase 15,000 shares of Common Stock were granted to other key employees. The options to executive officers will vest over a four year period with service to the Company. Of the options granted to executive officers, options to purchase 540,000 shares of Common Stock were granted to Mr. Allison. Both the size of grants and the proportion relative to the total number of option shares granted generally increased as a function of the recipient's higher level of responsibility within the Company and individual performance. The factors upon which the Committee granted options, including the grants to Mr. Allison, were the same as those considered in awarding discretionary cash bonuses. The Compensation Committee also made grants of restricted Common Stock to Mr. Allison for 180,000 shares and Mr. Burns for 45,000 shares. Such shares will vest over a four year period based on service to the Company.

$1 Million Deduction Limit. Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code generally limits the corporate income tax deduction for compensation paid to each executive officer shown in the summary compensation table in the proxy statement of a public company to $1 million, unless the compensation is "performance-based compensation" and qualifies under certain other exceptions. The Committee considers the impact of the limits on deductibility of compensation when determining executive officer compensation. Based on the current level of executive officer base salaries and discretionary bonuses, the Committee does not currently anticipate that any portion of the Company's executive officer compensation would not be deductible under Section 162(m). The Committee will continue to monitor whether the $1 million limit on deductibility may impact its compensation policies.
